Education is the responsibility of the entire community working united – hand in hand -- guided by the high moral principles which embrace the great works and achievements of humanity. It is a gift from one generation to the next for the benefit of all and that equality, freedom, justice and opportunity shall be every child's heritage.

The Ujima Cultural Center is working hard to ensure that every generation is aware of its heritage, including the great contributions of African Americans to the Arts and Humanities, Science, technology, medicine and industry and every other aspect of culture. Please join us in this mission through your generous support and contribution which will continue to enable us to do God's work for the benefit of all people.
